Welcome

Welcome to the Soul Matters RE Packet for September’s theme of “What Does it Mean to Be a People of Welcome?” In this packet you will find various ways to integrate the theme into your ministries for children, youth and families. A few words about our approach to the Sunday Sessions portion of the Packet:

1. We use an “interchangeable component” approach that allows you to reorder, replace or remove the components as best fits your context or time constraints. So while each session’s components are designed to fit together, you don’t have to use all of them or even use them in the order we’ve assembled them. These components include wonder box activities, reflection questions, stories, mindfulness activities, games, crafts, songs.

2. Our session components strive to be experiential. In other words, each session is designed to engage children in three fundamental spiritual experiences; what we call “the three S’s.” We see the “three S’s” as an antidote and alternative to competitive, media-saturated & materialistic culture.
   a. Silence = meditation, listening, mindfulness.
   b. Service = leadership, helping others
   c. Sunshine = connection with nature and our bodies through outdoor activities or movement

3. Our Sunday Sessions frequently connect to the holidays and special events that happen during the month. For example, in the session on “Welcoming Diversity,” there are resources that amplify and engage the fact that September is National Hispanic Heritage Month. This helps connect what happens in church with what is happening “in the world.” It is one way to ensure that faith engagement relates to our daily living.

I also want to share a bit about the overall packet design and content. We know that faith formation is about more than “religious education classes.” So we include resources for children’s chapel, stories for all ages, family resources and ideas for youth and young adult ministry. For those who have a longer program or a Wednesday Family Night, we’ve included an “Add On” section with ideas for further exploration.

I’m so grateful for this opportunity to partner with you as you offer your important ministries to so many!

Stories for all Ages

The Welcome Challenge
Save a space for an imaginary visitor as you invite the children to the Story for All Ages. Then, invite the congregation to imagine and share how they might welcome different kinds of visitors, using The Welcome Challenge from Tapestry of Faith “Signs of our Faith”:

Baucis and Philomon
http://etc.usf.edu/lit2go/68/fairy-tales-and-other-traditional-stories/5096/philemon-and-baucis/
https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Baucis_and_Philomen
Greek story of welcoming the strangers who turn out to be the gods and receiving gifts for their radical hospitality.

The Real Gift
When Nana moves in with Nelson, Nelson wonders if she will fit in. Nelson has two Dads, so this could be used for LGTB Pride Month. Sensory element: Hold up a crocheted blanket. Invite a congregant who crochets to briefly demonstrate the technique and supplies. Note: There is a coloring sheet which comes with the story. The sheet could be a “fidget buster” for children who would like to color while listening to the story instead of coming up front. Make sure to have some multicultural skin tone crayons available.

Hymns That Can Serve as Reflections for All Ages
(And accompany the Stories for All Ages)

#188 “Come, Come Whoever You Are”

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=lmMp0OKHgTA

Reflection on the song:
Come, come, whoever you are,
Wanderer, worshipper, lover of leaving,
Ours is not a caravan of despair.
Even if you have broken your vows a thousand times
It doesn’t matter
Come, come yet again, come – Rumi

If you look at the notes in the bottom of this hymn, you can see the author of the words listed as “Rumi.” Rumi wrote over 7,000 poems and was born 807 years ago. His poems have sold millions of copies in recent years, making him the most popular poet in the US.

When Rumi says come, come, whoever you are, he is extending a profound welcome. Rumi doesn’t say, just those of you who have your lives sorted out, come on in. Only you happy people, come along. Only the wealthy or the smartest or the most successful. Only sunny blue-sky days. Rumi doesn’t say, you’re too greedy, too slow, too fast, too little, not enough, too much – go away. He doesn’t sort people and experience into the worthy and the unworthy, saved and unsaved.

The version of Rumi’s words which was adapted into a song in our hymnal is actually missing something that’s an incredibly essential part of Rumi’s original piece. These words were included in the reading. “Even if you have broken your vows a thousand times, it doesn’t matter. Come, come yet again, come.” Those who have broken their vows, who have fallen short in some way, are welcome. The unpleasant stuff is welcome too – the anger, fear, doubt. What Rumi advised over 800 years ago is true for us today.”

Arts and Crafts

Poster Making
Welcome Tree - on a piece of poster paper, draw the trunk and bare branches of a tree. Make tempera paint handprints from the children’s hands for the leaves, in various colors and label it “Our Welcome Tree.”

“Sunshine” Activity (connection with nature and our bodies):
Share in some water play if you offer a Water Ceremony
A water slide, a tub of water

Service
Make a welcome poster for the preschool room door, or for another door!

Elementary Aged Children (1 - 5th)

Reflection Questions
Prop - a welcome mat
Do you know what a “Welcome Mat’ is? How many of you have a Welcome Mat at your front door? What does it look like? Why do people use a Welcome Mat? (to wipe off shoes, to let guests know they are welcome)

The theme this month is “Welcome. What does it mean to be a people of welcome?” (We welcome each other, we welcome the stranger, we welcome guests, we welcome hard times, doubts and fears, we welcome all beings.)

Story
Use a story from the “For All Ages” section or the book recommendations.

Mindfulness

Creating a Welcoming Ritual
What ways can we think of to be welcoming? From Tapestry of Faith, Signs of our Faith

Creating Name Tags

Invite children to create their name tag. Use materials that will last at least for the month, hopefully longer. One suggestion is a brightly colored selection of shoelaces as lanyards with a clip name tag. Children may color and decorate the white card inside the plastic sleeve.

Invite the children to create extra name tags for visitors to wear. Use the questions from Tapestry of Faith, “Signs of our Faith” at http://www.uua.org/re/tapestry/children/signs/session10/287885.shtml

Before or following the activity, help the children process with the following questions:

- Why is it important that people wear name tags while at our congregation?
- Do you think name tags are welcoming? Why?
- Do you think it is important that all ages wear name tags?

Making a Covenant

A covenant is a promise or set of promises which we make together about how we wish to act when we are together. What might we list as our covenant? How might we add welcome as a theme to a covenant we make together? Write the children’s suggestions on a poster board. Invite each child to sign their name. Post it as a reminder of the group covenant.

A few ideas:

- Be a croissant, not a bagel. A croissant has an opening, since it is shaped like a “C,” a bagel is closed, there is no room for more.
- Don’t yuck on my yum. Let me like what I like without being embarrassed or shamed.

Game

Pass the Mask - from Sheila Shuh, Rochester, NY - Like the game Telephone, this game involves passing the same expression from one person to another, and the last person sees if their expression matches the first person’s. Invite the children to line up so they are facing one direction, one behind the other. The last person (or leader) taps the person’s shoulder in front of them to turn around and look, and makes a face/body expression. That person then taps the person in front of them and repeats the expression. When the expression gets to the front, that person checks with the person who began and sees if it matches!

Masks: In addition to silly and terrifyingly scary expressions, be sure to include different expressions of welcome - a smile, cupping hands around ears for listening, mouthing “hello,” blowing a kiss, shaking hands.

Craft Activity

- Playdough or Modeling Clay
- Sequins, gems, decorations to stick into the clay, optional.
• Create a chalice that represents welcome. When children are done, invite them to give their chalice to someone else in the group as a way of being welcoming.

“Sunshine” Activity (connection with nature and our bodies):

Service
Build Welcome Bags for the Visitor Table
Create Welcome Bags for the Visitor Table to hand to visiting folks. Make enough so each visitor or member of a visiting family will receive one.
• White lunch bags, decorated with welcome signs and words by the children and youth. Perhaps words in Spanish and/or other languages in your community!
• A homemade card of welcome
• A brochure about the congregation
• An invitation to an upcoming event or group (ideally signed and with a contact number or email. I.e. “Please join me at the Fire Circle Sing-a-long, Sunday evening, Sept. __. Let me know if you have any questions. Sincerely, Rachel S. 555-1234”)
• Piece of Dove chocolate with a love saying inside the wrapper.
• Links to the congregational Facebook page and other social media
• Link to a Welcome video about UU in general.
• Pipe cleaners for kids who wish to stay in the adult service.
• A cheery piece of tissue paper, in the congregation’s colors, if you have them or multicolored.
Session 2
Welcoming Diversity

Young Children (P - K)

Wonder Box
Finger Puppets
Have two small finger puppets, different from each other, or 2 of anything, such as pipe cleaners, which can be made into pretend puppets. Place the puppets on your fingers.
Leader: Who are you?
I’m butterfly! [or whatever.]
I’m bear! [or whoever.]
Are you friends?
Butterfly: I’m not sure. She isn’t like me.
Bear: I’m not sure. He isn’t like me.
Leader: Can you be friends even though you look different?
Ask the children. Can they be friends, what do you think?
Let’s find out. What do you like to do?
Butterfly: I like to eat.
Bear: Me, too!
Bear: I like to explore.
Butterfly: Me, too!
Butterfly: I like to rest when I’m tired.
Bear: Me, too!
Etc.

Carry on a conversation, which shows that two different puppets can be friends with each other. Invite the children to contribute why they can be friends. They both like to play. They both like to eat yummy things.

And what about the differences? One likes flower nectar, one likes roots. One has fur and one has wings. Etc. Ask the children if they still can be friends. Yes, even though they are different, they can be friends. Invite the puppets to ask the children if they are friends. How do you welcome your friends? (say hello, give a hug, wave)

Song

A Friend at Church
How can we show that we like to be friends? We can sing a special song: (Tune of Farmer in the Dell)

“We find a friend at church, we find a friend at church,
Hi, ho the dairy o!
We find a friend at church

RE Resources – Welcome
We welcome [John] to church, hello!
We welcome [John] to church, hello!
Hi, ho the dairy o!
We welcome [John] to church, hello!

Insert each child’s name as you sing. Pantomime waving hands when you say “hello!” For the second round, introduce another word for hello, such as “Buenos Dias!” or “Bonjour!”

Story
Share a story from the Book Recommendations section, especially one of the Todd Parr books or Last Stop on Market Street.

Mindfulness
Focus on breathing when in a stressful moment, such as worrying about a person who is new and different, or being a person who is new and different. Five-finger starfish meditation: this breathing technique has kids holding up one hand in a starfish position (fingers spread wide) while they gently trace up and down each finger with the other hand, focusing on regular breathing at the same time. https://positivepsychologyprogram.com/mindfulness-for-children-kids-activities/#young-children

Craft
Make Love Hearts
Add the word “Welcome” to the heart.

Play
Play with toys and be welcoming to each other. How would you be welcoming with blocks? With Duplos? With cars? With Puppets? With [other toys in the room.]

Elementary Children (1-5th)

Reflection
Light the Chalice in Spanish and English for Hispanic Heritage Month
“We light this chalice for the warmth of love, the light of truth and the energy of action.”
“Encendemos este cáliiz por la calidez del amor, la luz de la verdad y la energía de la acción” Translated by Vicky Santibanez, Chilean translator and member of Boulder Valley Unitarian Universalist Fellowship, Lafayette, CO

Who knows a different language or someone who speaks another language? Anyone going to a bilingual school? What does it feel like if you don’t know the language?

Invite the children to memorize the Spanish of the chalice lighting. For those who can write and read, they may wish to write it down to take it home, if they don’t speak Spanish.

How does it feel to be a “stranger?” How can we welcome people who are different from us? Our UU principles remind us to try to celebrate “the inherent worth and dignity of every person.” In children’s language, “Each person is worthwhile.”
What messages are part of our society right now about people who are different from white culture, like the Muslims, racial minorities, LGBT people. How can we counter those messages? Be welcoming!

Story

A quick intro to mindfulness
https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=mtjfyuTTQFY

- Please get into your ‘mindful bodies’ – still and quiet, sitting upright, eyes closed.”
- “Now place all your attention on the sound you are about to hear. Listen until the sound is completely gone.”
- Ring a “mindfulness bell,” or have a student ring the bell. Use a bell with a sustained sound or a rain stick to encourage mindful listening.
- “Please raise your hand when you can no longer hear the sound.”
- When most or all have raised their hands, you can say, “Now slowly, mindfully, move your hand to your stomach or chest, and just feel your breathing.”
- You can help students stay focused during the breathing with reminders like, “Just breathing in ... just breathing out ...”
- Ring the bell to end.

Wonder Box

A Band-Aid.
I wonder what the Band-Aid is for? (Fixing owies)
Owies do happen, don’t they? Have you had an owie? What happened?
Owies get better. They happen and then your body heals. What a nice thing that your body can heal the scratch or the sniffles. What do you do when you have to rest from a scratch or the sniffles? Do you read books with your parents? Do you watch a movie? Do you snuggle down and sleep under your favorite blanket?
It is nice to do these things. If we welcome the time to let our body heal, we can enjoy the movie, the blanket and the reading.

Service

Elementary Children (1-5th)

Reflection Question
We know that life is sometimes hard. Have you ever thought of welcoming the hard times? We don’t want hard times. But they happen. How might we shift our thinking to accept hard times and learn from them? Here’s a clip of former First Lady Michelle Obama talking about her daughters and the hard times they had to experience and what they learned from them.

She shared that the motto for the cruelty and racism they experienced in the White House was “When they go low, we go high.” Are there times you can think of when something hard taught you? What did you learn?

Hard times are caused by others and by ourselves. For the Jewish people, this month is a time to atone (to apologize) for the hard things they have caused. This month is the Jewish Holiday of Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur.

Find a Shofar, a Ram’s Horn used as a trumpet, that is blown with a harsh sound to wake up to spiritual needs. Or use the YouTube Video at https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=EKQrBURDtQE

Ask a trumpet player to try to blow it, as “embouchure” is needed to make it sound! Have some wipes on hand and invite the children to try blowing it. It’s hard! You have to tighten your lips and fill your lungs with air, but don’t puff out your cheeks.

“The sound of the shofar is an ‘alert,’ ...The sound of the Shofar inspires us with awe, for it reminds us that it is a Day of judgment.

The broken sounds of the shevarim and teruah [blasts] are like stifled sobs and groans, piercing the heart; they break the heart with remorse for our past failings....”

Mindfulness

The Path of Forgiveness
When do you atone, apologize, for past hard things you have caused? What would it be like to welcome the opportunity to clear the air, to become right with the world again? Get into a comfortable position, lying down if you’d like, and close your eyes. Take a trip with me in your mind...

Imagine that you are walking down a path. It is a path of forgiveness. There is a fog that surrounds you. It is the wrong doings that surround you. The fog robs the beauty of the forest around you. It becomes harder and harder to walk, your feet are heavy, your legs are wooden. Your face is frozen. Then, out of the fog comes a person. It might be a person to whom you need to apologize, or to whom something wrong has happened. That person approaches you and looks you in the eyes. Their eyes are soft, they have a slight smile. What do you say to them in your mind? Imagine saying that. How do they respond? A bench appears and you sit with them for a while. As you sit, the fog lifts, your legs and face relax, your feet are light. You can see the beauty all around you. You say goodbye to that person with a smile. You walk on the path again, almost dancing. You walk for a while and when you are ready, return to this place, your body, and open your eyes.

If you would like to, share what happened on your path....
Remember the path and that bench when hard things happen. Welcome the path and welcome that time on the bench together.

A Welcome Snack: What fruits or vegetables grow in the fall? Do you have a garden? What is growing now? Serve harvest snacks, such as apples (cut them so the star shows and tell the story of the Little Red House with a Star Inside http://happyhomefairy.com/apple-star-story-for-preschoolers/)
Cut up sweet potatoes and squash to munch on like carrot sticks. We welcome the harvest! We welcome the beauty of nature!

Mindfulness and Sunshine Activity
Safari Walk
Tell your kids that you will be going on a safari, and their goal is to notice as many birds, bugs, creepy-crawlies, and any other animals as they can. Anything that walks, crawls, swims, or flies is of interest, and they’ll need to focus all of their senses to find them, especially the little ones.

Service
Welcoming Pet Food Project: Be part of a Pet Food Drive to welcome all the animals who are lost. Collect the pet food for your local animal shelter. In advance, encourage families to bring cans and dry pet food. Invite the children to stack and play with the cans and bags, and pick out their favorite pet picture. What pets do you have? How do you take care of them? How would a pet feel if it is lost? How would they feel welcomed if they are rescued?

Game
Welcome All Beings
Give each child a stuffed animal or puppet. Play Ring Around the Rosie and the Farmer in the Dell with all of the animals and puppets. Give the animals and puppets a tour of the room and show them your favorite places. Move outside, if appropriate, and show them your favorite places on the playground or grounds.

Reflection
Did you know that your dog is your twenty-seventh million cousin? In the tree of life, we are all related. The great lesson of evolution is that we are related not only to every living thing, but also to everything that has ever lived on Earth. https://www.evogeneao.com/learn/tree-of-life

When we hold the awareness of our interconnectedness with all things, we stay in balance. Even our planet is balancing this month. It is the Autumnal Equinox - when night and day are equal.

“Sunshine” Activity (connection with nature and our bodies):
Welcome Balance for the Autumnal Equinox/Mabon Mabon is the Wiccan name for the Autumnal Equinox. It is a time for harvest celebrations as well as balancing the day and night, the light and shadow.

When the Northern Hemisphere is tilted toward the sun, the northern part of the world receives more hours of sunlight and the people in the Northern Hemisphere experience summer. In the winter, the opposite is true. The Northern Hemisphere is tilted away from the sun and receives fewer hours of sunlight.

But on two days each year, the fall and spring equinoxes, day and night are of equal length. The Earth is tilted neither toward nor away from the sun. The word equinox comes from a Latin word that means “time of equal days and nights.”

Go outside, if you are able.
Separate into pairs. Invite one child to be day and another to be night. Start out by grasping wrists and gently leaning back so each is holding the other up.
Say something like:
- “Now, decide in each pair who is day and who is night. At first, you are equal for the Autumnal Equinox. But slowly the earth tilts and days grow shorter, nights grow longer.”
- Day starts bending their knees and Night stands on tiptoes.
- “It is winter. We arrive at the Winter Solstice, the longest night and the shortest day of the year.”
- Day is as low as they can get, and Night as high as they can get. “Then the earth slowly tilts again. The Northern Hemisphere gets longer days and shorter nights.”
- Slowly, Day rises and Night shrinks until they are equal.
- “When Day and Night are equal again, it is what... Spring Equinox, in March! Then the earth continues to tilt. What comes next? The longest Day of the year and the shortest night. Called....
  Summer Solstice.”
- Day is on tiptoes and night is as low as they can get. Then slowly, the earth tilts and nights grow longer and days grow shorter. Soon, they are equal for the Autumnal Equinox again. Rest here, leaning back and welcome the balance! Cycle through the solstices and equinoxes one more time to embody the tilting of the earth.

Shadow Tag.
Invite the children to play shadow tag, in which they try to jump on each other’s shadows, if you have a cooperative sunny day and room to run outside. Or try Elbow Tag http://www.norcal.playworks.org/playbook/games/elbow-tag
Chapel

Here’s a format for a Children’s Chapel or Circle Time. Mix and match the components to fit your program. We recommend some type of ritual that is the same most every Sunday, to create comfort and memories even with discontinuous attendance. Post the words on the wall so that guests and newcomers can join in. When you offer Multigenerational services, offer these same words as a whole community of children, youth and adults.

Welcome Centerpiece
Choose a color for a cloth, a chalice, an offering box, a way of sharing Joys and Sorrows (candles or rocks in water). Blue for the Water Ceremony?

Entering
Invite the singing bowl. (Ring the bowl)
“To this quiet place of beauty, we come from busy things Pausing for a moment for the thoughts that quiet brings.”

Chalice Lighting

“We light this chalice for the warmth of love, the light of truth and the energy of action.” (or your own congregation’s words)

Offering (optional)

“We drop our coins in. We get back pride, to help other people feel good inside.”

Sharing of Joys and Concerns

“We listen to each other, it is a holy act
To share our joys and sorrows, with grace it flows on back.”

You may always say, “Pass.”
If you wish to share, say your name, then light a candle or drop a rock in the water for your joy or concern.
“For all the joys and concerns which remain unspoken, we light this candle/add this rock.”
Meditation on Welcome

Move into a comfortable position and close your eyes if you are comfortable. Our first principle reminds us that “Each person is worthwhile.” Each being is worthy of welcome. So we move into breathing, feeling relaxed. We breathe in peace, we breathe out welcome. Each breath in brings us peace, as a glowing inside of us. With each breath out we breathe welcome to spread around the room, around the congregation, around the community, and around the world. Breathe in peace, breathe out welcome. Stay in this place of peace and welcome until I invite the bell.

Ring the bell.

Return slowly to this room, to your body, open your eyes when you are ready.

Story

Chose a story from the packet- see “Stories for All Ages” section.

Songs, redux

Extinguishing the Chalice

We gather the warmth of love, the light of truth, and the energy of action into our hearts

Back into the world of do and say

Carry it forward into the dawning day.

Go Now in Peace, Amen.

Move your arms to express the actions: gather using a cupping motion from the flame of the chalice to your heart, spread that outward again.

Youth and Young Adult

Here are a variety of components for use in your Middle School/Senior High/Young Adult Groups. For multigenerational sharing, ask yourself, how can this be shared with the wider community? With a younger or older group? As part of worship? In addition, think of leadership opportunities for this age. How will you share your gifts with our community in relation to the theme?

For additional reflection questions and exercises on the theme for Youth and Young Adults, be sure to check this month’s Soul Matters Small Group Packet (after all, isn’t Youth Group a Small Group Ministry?!) Also, don’t forget that attending an adult worship service on “A People of Welcome” is a great learning and engagement opportunity.

UU Reflection

Considering our 5th Principle - Consensus and Majority Rule as a Welcoming model:
Vote for an activity using Majority Rule.
   - A walk or a coffee shop visit
   - A game or a discussion
Process: Review what is required for people to make decisions together. What we did just now was voting by majority.

There’s another, more welcoming way of making a decision called consensus building. Our 5th Principle says “The right of conscience and the use of the democratic process within our congregations and in society at large.” Sometimes we shorten it to “All people have a vote.” Maybe we should consider shortening it to “All people have a say,” to reflect the importance of the consensus model. Use the steps from https://www.seedsforchange.org.uk/consensus to build consensus about the choices above.

- What differences and benefits do you see in each way of coming to an agreement as a group? Especially about welcoming input!
- Consensus requires participation from all group members, including those with minority opinions. Majority rule does not require a collective agreement.
- Consensus enables all group members to be invested in the chosen outcome. Majority rule may result in those in the minority feeling left out of the decision-making process.
- Consensus requires an environment that is conducive to healthy discourse. Majority rule does not require the same level of interaction, and may allow members to keep their beliefs private, if they so choose.
- Majority rule is a quicker decision-making process.
- Majority rule is susceptible to abuse by the majority, while groups seeking to reach a consensus may fall victim to groupthink.

After you build consensus, offer the activities that were chosen, if appropriate.

Welcoming the Diversity
“In true community we will not choose our companions, for our choices are so often limited by self-serving motives. Instead, our companions will be given to us by grace. Often they will be persons who will upset our settled view of self and world. In fact, we might define true community as that place where the person you least want to live with lives...” - Parker Palmer, “The Company of Strangers”

- How has this happened in your life?
- Who do you least want to live with?
- How might they be a part of your true community?
- Viewed through the lens of cliques, what might this teach us?

Games

Clumps
Any size room. Easy game used to get to know each other. Simply yell, "Form a group according to . . . (see suggestions below)." If you're looking for a certain number of people per team, just say, "Form a group of 4!"
Variation: Once in their groups, the game leader reads a question from the list below (or write your own) and everyone in the group answers.
Clumps: height, hair color, # cavities, # siblings, shirt color, number of people in your immediate family, month of birth, favorite color, grade, middle initial, school you attend.
Questions:
• What is your favorite cartoon (or cartoon character)?
• Who do you most admire?
• What animal is most like your personality?
• What would you do with $100,000?
• What do you hope to be doing in 10 years?

“Observation” (for more than 10 people):
Form a circle of chairs, and have everyone but IT (start with IT as leader) seated. IT walks around the inside of the circle observing each member until IT has decided on a particular characteristic of people to pick. IT then taps each person who has that characteristic, and that person stands and moves into the center. The remaining seated people try to guess which characteristic is common to all of the folks standing in the center. Whoever guesses the correct characteristic gets to be IT next. Examples might be glasses, buttons, sandals, purple clothing, jeans, etc. Those standing in the circle may try to guess quietly among themselves.

"Observation" (for fewer than 10 people):
Have one or two people chosen who will go out of the room. Once they are out of the room, the chosen person or team changes something about their appearance. They return to the room and the audience tries to figure out what was changed. - From “Lodestone; Magnetize Your Middle School” by Katie Covey

Welcoming the hard times reflection -
“If you can’t get out of it, get into it!” Outward Bound Motto

Share this excerpt from Parker Palmer’s experience rappelling:
“I was about halfway down when the second instructor called up from below: “Parker, I think you better stop and see what’s just below your feet.” I lowered my eyes very slowly—so as not to shift my weight—and saw that I was approaching a deep hole in the face of the rock.

In order to get down, I would have to get around that hole, which meant I could not maintain the straight line of descent I had started to get comfortable with. I would need to change course and swing myself around that hole, to the left or to the right. I knew for a certainty that attempting to do so would lead directly to my death—so I froze, paralyzed with fear.

The second instructor let me hang there, trembling, in silence for what seemed like a very long time. Finally, she shouted up these helpful words: “Parker, is anything wrong?”

To this day, I do not know where my words came from, though I have twelve witnesses to the fact that I spoke them. In a high, squeaky voice I said, “I don’t want to talk about it.”

“Oh, keen,” I thought. “I’m about to die, and she’s going to give me a motto!”

But then she shouted ten words I hope never to forget, words whose impact and meaning I can still feel: “If you can’t get out of it, get into it!”

I had long believed in the concept of “the word become flesh” but until that moment I had not experienced it. My teacher spoke words so compelling that they bypassed my mind, went into my flesh, and animated my legs and feet. No helicopter would come to rescue me; the instructor on the cliff would not pull me up with the rope; there was no parachute in my backpack to float me to the ground. There was no way out of my dilemma except to get into it—so my feet started to move and in a few minutes I made it safely down.”

Family and Parent Resources

These resources support parents as they live out and engage our themes with their children. Playing off our monthly theme question of “What does it mean to be a people of Welcome?”, we invite parents to ask “What does it mean to be a parent of Welcome” or “What does it mean to be a family of Welcome?”

As you use these resources to engage these questions, keep in mind some additional ways to use them with other parents or your church community:

- Read it and reflect with those in your family.
- Share and discuss them with other parents or another family.
- Use them in a Parent Circle that meets on Sunday afternoon or mid-week.
- Use them at a Wonderful Wednesday night that includes dinner, spiritual practice and activities on the theme, including times together as families, and separate as kids and adults. Be sure to gather at the end for a goodnight hug and lullaby!
